About you

- You're a new graduate who share our passion for growth and technology evolution.
- You're ambitious, energetic, and motivated to succeed.
- You're willing to challenge the status quo and are not afraid of a challenge.
- You can manage several tasks while also staying focused on your priorities.
- You're great at building relationships, and you're committed to helping our customers improve their businesses.

About us

We are a community of visionary innovators, dedicated to providing pioneering software and consultancy services to financial institutions, trading firms, central banks, governments, and corporations around the world. We strive to simplify the way people work. We do that by providing workflow and process automation software, as well as providing real-time data and business intelligence to help people make better decisions. We have 13,000+ employees, 60+ global offices, and over 4,800+ customers worldwide.

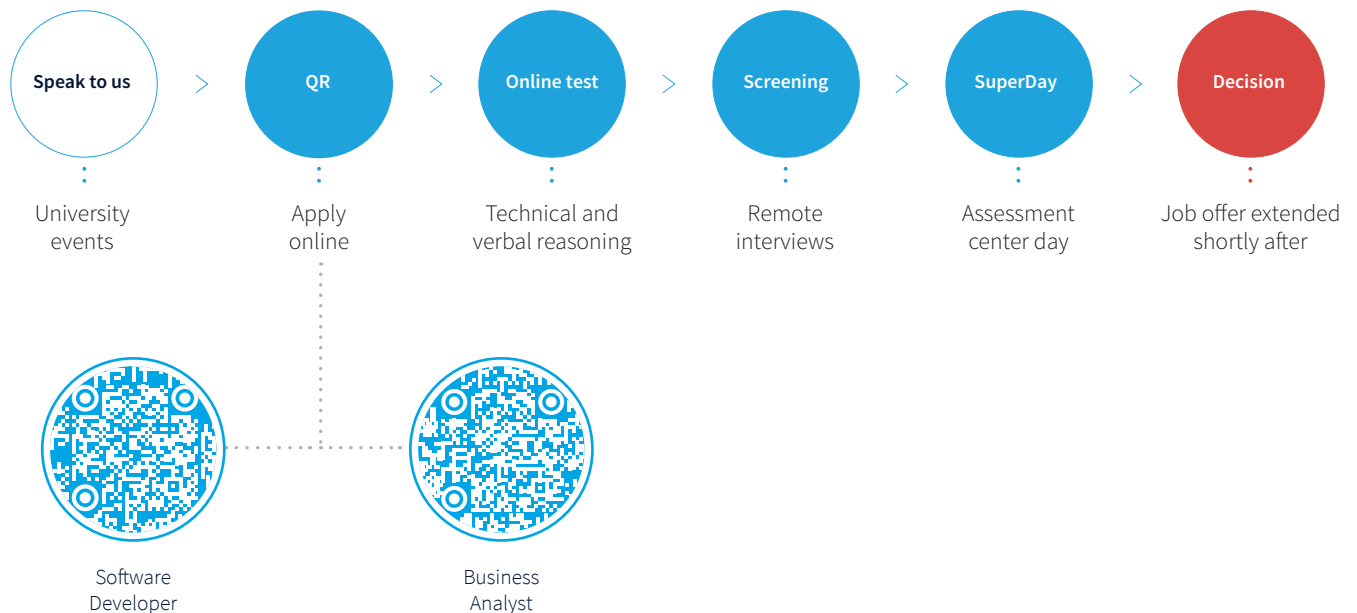

The program

- Our 3-year program consists of distinct rotations spanning a broad range of our key business areas.
- You'll work at the forefront of financial technology in teams with fellow analysts and experienced subject matter experts.
- After structured training, you'll use in-depth analysis to solve complex issues and take responsibility and ownership for your work.
- ION's global presence offers you the opportunity to spend part of the program internationally.

Our Purpose

To automate wherever it makes a positive difference to people and businesses. We simplify complex processes and liberate people from repetitive manual tasks. Simply put, we help our customers do more, faster and better than before, giving them a competitive advantage.

The Process

⊕ The Leadership Development Program opportunity is also available within the ION Group family of companies.
